

STAFFPOINT GROUP JOB APPLICANT PRIVACY NOTICE

Summary

This summary explains how StaffPoint processes the personal data of its job applicants. Detailed information on processing measures can be found in the description of the job applicant Privacy notice.

On what grounds do we process your personal data?

StaffPoint processes your personal data based on your consent or StaffPoint's legitimate interest to offer you open job positions. You have either applied for a job with us or otherwise expressed your interest in working for us or for a customer company through us or you have joined StaffPoint's Talent Community.

What information do we collect on you?

We only collect information that is necessary to create and maintain an employment relationship between StaffPoint and you and to enable StaffPoint to perform the recruitment process on its own behalf or the customer's behalf.

At the job application stage, we only process the information that is necessary to find out whether you are suitable for the job you are applying for. We do not process your information for any other purpose.

Where do we obtain your information?

In general, the personal data that we have entered has been received from you: from a job application you provided, your CV, education certificates and job references or information provided in any interview or feedback given by referees that you may have supplied.

We process your information only as long as is needed and then remove the data from our databases.

Who do we disclose your information to?

We disclose your information only if necessary with your consent and only as needed to customers who you are interested in working for. We request your separate consent to disclose your contact details, telephone number and email to our customers. We have made statutory agreements with all parties to whom your data can be disclosed for a valid reason and your data is always kept confidential.

How do we protect your data?

We process personal data with methods and systems where the processing of your personal data is protected in the best possible way. We have restricted access to your data with authorisation and appropriate technical protections. Our staff who take part in processing your data comply with obligation to secrecy and protect your privacy by all means.
